EASTERTON, EASTCOTT AND EASTERTON SANDS

ISSUE 23 26TH SEPTEMBER 2021

“There are no strangers living here, only friends that you have yet to meet.”

Chairman's Message

A cautionary tale - Having enjoyed a relatively good summer and ventured outside, and even further afield, becoming bolder every week and meeting up with friends not seen since pre-pandemic, a chance meeting in Devizes on Saturday 18th September turned into a scramble for a 'lateral flow home test kit' on Monday on learning that the Saturday friend had tested positive for Coronavirus.

Thankfully my initial LF Test returned a negative but with the cautionary note that about 1 in 3 people with coronavirus do not have symptoms but can still infect others. So it's a case of so far so good and test again later. I don't have to but have elected to return to social distancing and wearing a face covering at least until next week.

The moral of the story is that we are not clear of this virus, won't be for a very long time, and must remain vigilant.

Wiltshire Council proposed Climate and Natural Environment Plan Consultation, towards a Green and Blue Infrastructure for Wiltshire (GBI)

Wiltshire is giving residents, businesses and local groups in the county the opportunity to have their say on its draft Climate Strategy which will help to shape the next five years of the council's action climate change. Green Infrastructure relates to all plant life such as fields trees, forests, hedgerows etc. while Blue Infrastructure relates to all water courses such as rivers, lakes canals, ponds and wetlands.

The draft covers 7 delivery themes: transport, built environment, Waste, green economy, energy generation, storage and distribution: natural environment, food and farming; and becoming a carbon Neutral Council.

Consultation started on 1st September and will run to Sunday 17th October.

For more information about the Climate Strategy and to have your say see: www.wiltshire.gov.uk/climate

For more information about the GBI Strategy see the following website link;

www.wiltshire.gov.uk/planning-bio-green-blue-infrastructure

There are drop-in sessions to see the draft Strategy information (2 have already been held earlier this month)

27th Sept 10am -12 noon Chippenham Library

7th October 10am - 12 noon, Trowbridge Library

The final online engagement event, at 7pm on Thursday 30th September, is an opportunity for you to find out more about the consultation and ask questions, ahead of taking the consultation surveys. We as a village might like to consider a project to reduce our carbon footprint - there are several case studies of communities getting together and planning their own projects with the support of the Council, they are worth reading.

The GBI Strategy will inform the development of new policies in the emerging Local Plan and other council documents such as Local Transport Plan set for a new Local Nature Recovery Strategy that will identify biodiversity net gain sites.

A MESSAGE FROM CLLR DOMINIC MUNS

Wiltshire Councillor for The Lavingtons and Easterton

It can feel frustrating at times that “the system” (however you interpret that!) feels broken. You’re not alone, however, I take some comfort in the fact that, when we work together, we can fix things.

Two examples spring to mind; the first being the development of 50 houses in West Lavington which gained planning approval recently. Large scale developments are normally contentious but projects which are planned alongside communities tend to work better.

Back in 2011 the Localism Act gave communities the ability to create a “Neighbourhood Plan” allowing residents to set out policies which define how development will happen within their community. West Lavington & Littleton Panell formed a steering group made up of local residents and Parish Councillors and together began producing their Neighbourhood Plan. In it they highlighted important natural, historical and design aspects of the area and identified suitable spaces for future development. The project had the input of hundreds of residents along the way and was approved by referendum which forced Wiltshire Council planners to adopt it.

The field off Lavington Lane was one site highlighted as a suitable location for future development as part of the Neighbourhood Plan. Over the course of the following years Gaigers developed a plan to build 50 houses on the site. Through various public consultations and exhibitions the plans were refined with input from the community and eventually submitted to Planning. Not all residents were supportive of the plan although just three comments were submitted during the consultation which questioned a specific part of the application. I don’t attempt to claim that we are all happy about 50 new houses being built, however, as far as a democratic process goes, the community can count this one as a huge win. This development fits our Neighbourhood Plan and, unlike many developments across Wiltshire, this is what residents voted for.

The second example of communities working together is Black Dog crossroads. Back in my July letter I updated you on Wiltshire Council’s Highways Department which had collated years of feedback from residents into several potential solutions which they sent out to the local Parish Councils for wider consideration and comment. I personally attended meetings alongside other interested residents in West Lavington, Market Lavington, Little Cheverell, Great Cheverell and Easterton to hear the discussions around the various ideas. Improved visibility, clearer road markings and reduced speed were the themes consistently raised by residents.

Each Parish Council independently fed their comments back to Highways to help shape a single proposed solution. I am pleased to say that the single proposed solution that Highways produced answers the key points residents raised when they came together at their local parish meetings. From the responses I was included in, Parish Councils have widely supported the proposal and Highways officers have now sent the briefing note to Cllr Mark McClelland, Cabinet Member for Transport. This is significant progress driven by local residents who worked with each other and their local Parish Councils to ensure their voices were heard; well done if you were one of the many involved

Obituary

Pauline Ansell

It with sadness to report the passing of the wonderful lady Pauline Ansell at the age of 90, a stalwart of the area and a true friend to many. She had lived at Forest Farm, Easterton Sands with her late husband Keith and latterly living in The Haven, Littleton Panell. Pauline was a Wiltshire born lady, her parents living on a farm outside Chippenham. She remembered one of her enjoyable jobs riding the farm/working horses through Chippenham to the farrier. In her youth, Pauline was also an excellent Hockey player representing Wiltshire at County Schools level. She was the most wonderful cake maker and cake decorator, making by hand, the most exquisite sugar paste floral displays on all sorts of celebratory cakes. Every autumn Pauline and her dear friend Cissy Chumbley would rake up all the fallen leaves along the lane and have multiple little bonfires all the way down. It was a great social yet busy time for them both, laughter booming from the lane, a memory for me whenever I smell the autumnal smoke .

In addition to helping on the farm Pauline helped the over 60's weekly Club in Market Lavington, collecting and driving the members to the Old School House. She was also on the team of ladies who delivered meals on wheels to local residents. I don't think there was a moment where you would find Pauline not doing anything she was always on the go or taking time to talk to friends and neighbours.

Pauline leaves behind her two sons Neil and David and grandson Alexander.

St Barnabas Church - September News and Service dates

This month there is more news and more dates than recently. This is partly coming out of pandemic restrictions and partly giving you a lot of dates for the diary as we approach the busy (manic!) Christmas season. These are all correct as I write but we do have one slight uncertainty - Reverend Marion has at last got news of dates for her knee surgery which means she will be out of action for some time. The main effect of this is securing an ordained minister for our Benefice Communion services. This is in hand but there may be some re-arrangement of these services though hopefully not too much. So, dates for October:

Finally we hope to have a Christmas Tree Festival again this year. It was so sad that, just as it was becoming established it had to be put on hold. We have already started to make plans but would like to have some idea of the number of people who would like to enter a tree to help our planning. The theme will be 'A Christmas Carol' - any carol of your choice, the proposed date to hold the exhibition of trees is December 18th and 19th, from 10.00am to 4.00pm and we will provide refreshments and some activities for children. Enquiries to June Wright, 01380 818794, please let us know if you would like to enter a tree by the 1st November so that we can make sure that we can provide the right number of spaces and show off all entries to their best advantage.

Low Carbon Heating Choices

based on article by Joel Rawson.

Centre of Alternative Technology (CAT), Macchynlleth, Wales

website: www.cat.org.uk

CAT's Zero Carbon Britain scenario mainly uses heat pumps for heating but its not the only option being championed. Any system can be mis-sold and a potentially good option could be sized incorrectly, or have the wrong choice of controls, be overpriced or have over optimistic claims about carbon savings or running costs. The most important and good investment points to get across to every house owner, whatever the heat source, is insulation and related measures. This will reduce the need for more heat and energy waste.

The following shows the potential of some other technologies.

HEAT NETWORKS: This system should be identified and developed as part of a zero carbon action plan for a region or town. If a village or town think this could work for them then they need to approach in local zero carbon action planning such as Wiltshire Council plans. Check online to see how CAT's Zero Carbon Hub and Innovation Lab is working.

HEAT PUMPS: A well specified heat pump should give 3 or 4 units of heat for every unit of electricity consumed which equates to about 2/3rds of the cost of gas but the most important thing is that the carbon emissions are about 80% less than using gas for energy and less than a direct electric heating system. The high upfront costs are the main barrier at present with costs reaching £20,000 although there is a Clean Heat Grant due of £4000 yet to be confirmed. The cost is not just in the Heat pump but also in putting in compatible pipework and choice of radiators. For a case study see the following website: www.trystanlea.org.uk/heatpump2020

HYDROGEN: This at the moment will relate to gas infrastructure where a pilot scheme has been running with an addition of 10% Green Hydrogen being added to the normal gas supply, with so far no adverse effects to existing domestic gas boilers but has reduced the carbon footprint. The process of making 'green' 'grey' or 'blue' hydrogen does create carbon which has to be captured but there are pilot schemes doing this already and storing it underground. (I wrote an article on this in a previous Echoes last year the NorthEastEnergy hub). The technology for this energy does have a way to go to become efficient for domestic needs.

DIRECT ELECTRIC: In theory this form of direct heating such as an electric boiler, radiator or underfloor heating has the potential to be Zero carbon but this energy source does have a higher running cost than say an efficient Heat Pump. It will also rely on an infrastructure that generates enough electricity and preferably green Energy/ renewables.

INFRARED: The difference in the above direct electric heating is that it heats the radiator or underfloor heating system and the surrounding air but Infrared heating heats the people and surfaces instead of the air. Hence the electricity use will be much less while delivering the same thermal comfort. The infrared has been used successfully in bathrooms but is being rolled out as a suitable method especially in remote and old rural housing.

BUGLIFE and CREATING B-LINES ACROSS BRITAIN

www.buglife.org.uk

'If we and the rest of the back-boned animals were to disappear overnight, the rest of the world would get on pretty well. But if the invertebrates were to disappear, the world's ecosystems would collapse.' Sir David Attenborough

Create B-lines as a beautiful solution to the problem of the loss of flowers and pollinators. They are insect pathways creating a network across the British landscape.

Imagine travelling around Britain without our road and rail network. Or imagine if 9 out of every 10 miles of road didn't exist - life would be impossible! This is what has happened to our wildlife and it is predicted 40-70% of species could go extinct. (Intergovernmental Panel on Climate change 2007)

The South of England is of national importance for bees and other pollinating insects due to the unique conditions resulting from a combination of a favourable climate and great diversity of high quality habitats like coastal cliffs, sand dunes, wildflower grasslands, heathland and moorland, expanses of chalk downland, lowland heathland, coastal and floodplain marshes and important ex-industrial (brownfield) habitats. Pollinators are extremely valuable to farmers due to the region's major fruit-growing and arable areas.

Benefits of B-lines help conserve pollinators contributing to Biodiversity targets

Helping wildlife respond to climate change by making it easier to move around.

Bringing nature to people.

The Buglife website gives you great tips and advice on 'Gardening for Bugs' to help create the B-lines to connect our wildlife and buglife throughout Britain. This could be a project for the village?

WHAT'S YOUR STORY?

THE HAMMOCK FAMILY AS TOLD BY LISA

Lisa, Sophia, Olivia and Edward

Q. How long have you lived in Easterton?

We moved to Easterton in March 2021. We have moved 5 times over the last 12 years altogether. Due to Covid this was the most challenging, but thankfully our last!!

Q. What brought you to Easterton?

We have always moved to renovate up until now and we were looking for somewhere we could now settle and provide a stable base for our children. Edward grew up in the countryside (and spent some of his childhood near here!) so we were looking for more rural surroundings but with a great community around us. Easterton, to us, provides beautiful surroundings, with great walks/rides/runs, but with a lovely community feel.

Q. Family, tell us a bit about your family?

*Edward and I met through the Royal Navy (Edward was a submariner and I was a civilian instructor). We both have marine engineering backgrounds, which led to many interesting discussions over the years!
We have two daughters: Sophia (11) and Olivia (6), who have really settled in well to the area and have made some great friends already.*

Q. What is/was your favourite/most interesting job?

I (Lisa) was an engineering officer on board the QE2 earlier in my career. It was a fantastic and fascinating ship to work on and I met some great people. I think the highlight I mostly talk about is meeting David Bowie and having a few beers with him in the wardroom bar!

Right now I work in sustainability and environmental protection; advising clients on how to mitigate their impact on the environment and on achieving their sustainability goals and targets. It is a very challenging but fulfilling career.

Q. What is your favourite occupation/hobby?

I really enjoy running. I am quite competitive but only against myself! I enjoy longer distances normally but have been rehabilitating after an achilles rupture for the last year. I'm getting back to longer distances now though and you can often find me out exploring new routes in the area!! Good job I love hills!

Edward really enjoys bike rides: on and off road. He is also a DIY enthusiast (he designed and built a treehouse for our girls from scratch) and electronics guru.

Q. Who/what is your favourite author/book?

At the moment I am reading Rhys Bowen books: I love the mix of history, Italian culture, romance and suspense.

Claim to fame: Edward and I know the author J S Law who wrote the book that the upcoming TV submarine drama, Tenacity, is based on. His series of books are really gripping thrillers!!

Q. How have the COVID months/years been for you?

Although there have been some tough times, it is fair to say that we have been lucky through Covid. Being forced to work from home has been the opposite of my career to date and has allowed me to be around more for the children. Edward and I both changed jobs during lockdown and we have managed to move to this beautiful area, so we really count ourselves as fortunate!

THE EASTERTON SEWING BEES FLY INTO ACTION

The first evening was a great success with over 12 people arriving suitably armed with a great variety of projects, materials and requests, in fact we had to go into the main hall to have more room to layout larger tables for cutting material and space ourselves out. Irene was making the most beautiful lacework, Judy repairing some clothes, Cathryn working on some Crewl embroidery work, Gill and Nikki learning the finer points of cutting patterns with Helen offering excellent advice and help to all of us. It was a happy, bubbly and informative evening and so nice to actually work and talk with real people.

So please do come and join us every Wednesday 7pm - 9pm even just for the coffee and biscuits.

- SEWING - KNITTING - EMBROIDERY - TAPESTRY - CROCHETING - TATTING - LACEMAKING
- A FABRIC SWAP SHOP FOR UNWANTED/SURPLUS FABRICS OR EVEN CLOTHES FOR RECYCLING
- LEARN HOW TO GET THE BEST FROM YOUR SEWING MACHINE OR OTHER SEWING EQUIPMENT

This Sewing Group welcomes and encourages both beginners and the more advanced sewing practitioners to come and use as a place to enjoy each others company and share practical tips. Practical demonstration on any of the above aspects of needlework or general needlework/haberdashery/design/craft can be arranged with Helen Hardman.

Please, if possible bring your own machines, needles and materials etc.
